Description

LSC Transportation Consultants, Inc. was retained to develop a short range transit plan for Summit County and the Park City Municipal Corporation. The study focused on improving the extensive free-fare transit program serving Park City and surrounding resorts as well as to establish new services to rapidly-growing residential and commercial areas in surrounding unincorporated Summit County.

The study reviewed and presented demographic factors, including the increasing transit needs of a rapidly growing general public, commuter, and elderly population. With the attractiveness of the region as a major destination resort, the demand for high quality, convenient transportation, and tourist transportation needs were also identified. In addition, the funding sources available for public transit services were discussed, and in-depth analyses were conducted on a wide range of service, capital, institutional and management, and financial alternatives. Finally, the study presented a transit plan that will guide the growth of services over the coming seven-year period and an implementation plan to accomplish that growth. This plan led to the expansion of City transit services into County areas through the establishment of a special district. LSC's work was also instrumental in establishing funding and management agreements between the City and County.
